“I thought if I let him do it to me, he would leave my little sister alone.”

Child abuse victims are often adults before they tell their stories. By then, it can be too late:

Statute of limitations laws allow abusers to run out the clock.

It’s not too late for justice! Reform the statute of limitations for child sex abuse.

Pass the Child Victims Act now. Join our petition.