

NATIONAL CENTER FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME

Dear Friends of the National Center,

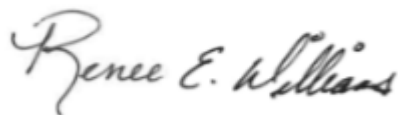

As we navigate this difficult time, we want to share some important updates with you. Starting Monday, March 16, the National Center staff began working remotely to do our part to stop the spread of COVID-19. Although we are not in our office right now, we are still fully functioning and continuing to support victims of crime, their families, and their communities.

While these times are trying, it is important to us that critical services and access points remain open. The VictimConnect helpline is operating on its regular hours of 12 p.m. – 5 p.m. for phone calls, web chats, and texts; please continue to reach out for support at 1-855-4-Victim. The D.C. Victim Hotline will continue to provide 24/7 support by phone, web chat, and text at 1-844-4HELPDC as well.

We will keep you posted if anything changes, but in the meantime, please stay safe and be healthy!

Wishing everyone the best,

Renee Williams
